

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

AMUSEMENTS.

SPooner Comedy Company.
Return Engagement.
One week, commencing Monday, Dec. 26th in repertoire, Supporting.

Miss Cecil Spooner
The Wonderful Child Actress.

Miss Edna May
The Talented Young Soubrette.

Opening bill, "The Judge's Wife."
Ladies free on Monday night, one lady and one gentleman or two ladies admitted on one ticket.
Popular Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.
Matinee Saturday, admission 10c and 20c. Change of bill nightly.

Wichita Musical Club.
LAST RECITAL.

WM. H. SHERWOOD,
ARTIST PIANIST.
Assisted by
MRS. LILLIAN HAMBELIN GARST
Dramatic Soprano.
MR. T. B. GARST, Basses.

MONDAY NIGHT, JAN. 2, '33.
Y. M. C. A. AUDITORIUM.
At 7:45 Sharp.
Admission ————— $1.00

Tickets on Sale: Thomas Shaw, Barnes & Newcomb and Wichita Book Store.

Home, Sweet Home.

These houses will be sold before spring, and we cannot guarantee them for money. If you want a home cheap, cut out this list and examine the property now. The prices vary from $150 to $600.

730 Leroy.	134 N. Tepeka.	$200.
720 Pearl.		$225.
N. W. cor. Tabor and Delaware.		$275.
N. W. cor. Tabor and Delaware.		$275.
N. W. cor. Columbia and Geneva.		$290.
2 houses in Butler.		$300 & $325.
204 S. Tepeka.	140 S. Tepeka.	$225.
1231 Strong.	165 Strong.
1242 Strong.	194 Strong.
1441 Strong.	121 Campbell.
1445 Vassar.	141 Chandler.
1445 Gordon.	N. E. cor. 14th and Humboldt.

Hartford Investment Co.

Room 402 Sedgwick Building.
Coca-Cola at Knorr's, 131 N. Main.
Sickler Conservatory of Music.

Miss Mathilde Lennow who recently arrived from London, Eng., and is the vocal teacher at the Sickler Conservatory of Music is now prepared to receive pupils. Instructions will be given in all its highest branches. Please address care Sickler Conservatory of Music.
Three pounds good mixed candy for 50 cents at Fletcher's.

Holiday Excursions.
Low rates for the holidays on the whole Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific system. Ask your ticket agent for rates and particulars.
J. S. SEBASTIAN,
3311 Gen'l Trk't and Pass. Ag't, Chicago.

Coca-Cola. Health and luxury. 35 ct.
Take state at Noble for Tecumseh. Best and shortest route. WM. SCHUBERT, Manager.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

A regular communicant of Sunflower lodge, No. 30, F. & A. M. will be held to night; also installation of officers.
H. A. HILL, W. M.

Wichita Light Infantry regular drill to night at 8 o'clock. By order of
W. H. STEELE, I. H. HETTINGER,
First Sergeant. First Lieutenant.

HEADQUARTERS ANSON SKINNER
CAMP, No. 49, DIV. KANSAS, S. V.
Regular meeting of camp at A. O. U. W. hall on North Market tonight. A full attendance is desired. Visiting brothers and G. A. R. comrades welcome.
W. J. SKELTON, EXA. E. BEARD, Captain.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONRY.
Triennial meeting of Wichita consistory No. 2, A. A. & S. Scottish Rite Masons, this evening at 7:30 o'clock for election of officers for the next three years ensuing.
D. H. MITCHELL, J. GILES SMITH, Registrar. Com. in Chief.

Coca-Cola. Health. 35 ct.
1933 Calendars 1933.
The World's Fair Calendars for 1933 are now being distributed at the Rock Island city office, free. You are invited to call and get one or more. W. H. WISHART, City Ticket and Passenger Agent, Wichita.

Coca-Cola. Try it. 35 ct.

Two Big Fires.
Wichita has suffered from them within a week. As this is the time for fires, we wish to call to your mind that the Knight Brothers at 500 North Main street, can protect your interests if you insure in any of their companies. Don't wait until it is too late, but insure now.

Coca-Cola. 35 ct.

A Cure for Croup.
If your children are subject to croup, always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at hand. It is a prompt and certain cure. If given as soon as the croup cough appears it will prevent the attack. For sale by Hettenger Bros., and Van Warden's pharmacy 328 N. Main.

New Route to Pittsburg, Kan.
A new route to Pittsburg, Kan., has been established via the Missouri Pacific railway. Train leaves daily at 12:30 p. m., arriving in Pittsburg at 8:40 p. m. No transfers. No delays by taking this route. Try it.
P. & T. A., Missouri Pacific Railway.

Holiday Excursion Rates.
Commencing Dec. 24th, 25th, 26th and 31st, and January 1st, '33, the Rock Island will sell excursion tickets to all points within 200 miles at a rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip, good for return up to and including January 3rd, 1933.
W. H. WISHART, City Ticket and Passenger Agent, Wichita, Kan.

A Four Name Firm.
When you find a four name firm you are pretty sure of an institution representing considerable responsibility. The firm of Hess, Harris, Brim & McLean, near Dawson, Georgia, is not an exception. It is, in fact, one of the most substantial business houses in Terrill county. The following is an extract from them: "Our customers say that Chamberlain's Medicine Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, manufacture three of the best medicines on earth, viz., Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, for bowel complaints; Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, for colds, croup and whooping cough; and Chamberlain's Palm Balm for rheumatism." 50 cents bottles of each of these medicines for sale by Hettenger Bros., and Van Warden's Pharmacy, 328 N. Main.

"Fast Train for Wichita People."
Wichita to Chicago without change of cars via the Great Rock Island route. Leave Wichita at 8:35 a. m. and arrive in Chicago next morning at 7:15. Free reclining chair cars, Pullman palace sleeping cars, and elegant dining cars on this train.
City Ticket & Passenger Agent, JOHN SEBASTIAN, G. T. & P. A., Chicago, Ill.

GOOD COOKING.
It is one of the chief blessings of every home. To always insure good custards, puddings, sauces, etc., use Gail Borden "Eagle" brand condensed milk. Directions on the label. Sold by your grocer and druggist.

Holiday Travel.

A holiday excursion ticket is an appropriate Christmas or New Year's present. It fits any size stocking, and suits any size purse.

The favorite Santa Fe Route has made the low rate of one and one-third fare round trip to stations on its line, within a distance of 200 miles, for holiday travel.
Tickets on sale December 24th, 25th, 26th and 31st; also January 1st and 2d, good until January 31, returning.
Call on local agent A. T. & S. F. R. R. He has plenty of tickets on hand at above rates.

For Kansas City, St. Louis and all points east take the Missouri Pacific railway. The shortest line to St. Louis by 49 miles between Wichita and St. Louis. Only fifty hours between Wichita and New York City via the Missouri Pacific railway. City ticket office 224 East Douglas Ave. 3011 tr.

From Newberg.
F. E. Moore & Co., prominent druggists of Newberg, Ore., say: "Since our customers have become acquainted with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, we sell but little of any other kind. Chamberlain's medicines all give good satisfaction." For sale by Hettenger Bros., and Van Warden's pharmacy 328 N. Main.

Holiday Excursions.
The Missouri Pacific Ry. will sell tickets at the rate of one fare for the round trip to the following places: Paola, Pleasanton, Fort Scott, Cherokee, Pittsburg, Neodesha, Fredonia, Winfield, Lyons, Arkansas City, Anthony, in the state of Kansas, and Liberal, Lamar, Joplin, Webb City, Minden and Carthage, in the state of Missouri. To other points within a distance of two hundred miles tickets will be sold at the rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale Dec. 24th, 25th, 26th and 31st, 1932, and January 1st and 2d, 1933, and will be good returning on or before January 31st, 1933. For further information call at city ticket office, No. 224 East Douglas ave., or at depot, corner Second and Wichita streets.
E. E. BLECKLEY, P. & T. A.

Cheap Rates for a Winter Trip via Santa Fe Route.
To Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Utah and Old Mexico, are offered by the Santa Fe. List of destinations includes Corpus Christi, El Paso, Galveston, Houston, Lompasa, Rockport, San Antonio, City of Mexico, Prescott, Saltillo, San Luis Potosi, Las Vegas, Hot Springs, San Diego, San Francisco, Salt Lake and Portland.

New Mexico is noted as having one of the most equable climates in the world, sudden changes being almost wholly unknown. It is a most desirable place either for the business man, pleasure seeker or the invalid, while it is the haven for the immigrant. No portion of the United States can compare with the fertile valleys of its rivers, and in the productions of the field, the market garden, the orchard and the vineyard.

For full particulars regarding the country, rates, stopovers, etc., call on or address nearest Santa Fe agent, or Geo. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., Topeka, Kan. W. J. Black, A. G. P. and T. A.

"I take pleasure in recommending Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says George C. Bauckman, of Mill Creek, Ill. "It is the best medicine I have ever used for diarrhoea. One dose will cure any ordinary case." For sale by Hettenger Bros., and Van Warden's pharmacy 328 N. Main.

Jack Frost stimulates travel. When he touches our ears, we think about getting warm.

California has the ideal winter climate—just far enough south to be sunny and frostless, and yet with sufficient tonic in the air.

Santa Fe route takes Jack Frost's hint, and has arranged a series of personally conducted weekly excursions to California. Pullman tourist sleepers, furnished with bedding, toilet articles, etc., leave Chicago and St. Louis every Saturday evening and leave Kansas City every Sunday morning, via A. T. & S. F. R. R. and A. P. line, for Los Angeles and San Francisco, on fast express trains.

Second-class tickets honored. A small charge for use of tourist sleeper. Everything neat, clean and comfortable.

Inquire of nearest ticket agent, or write to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., Santa Fe route, Topeka, Kan., for a copy of folder describing these excursions. 1501

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Used by millions of mothers.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

PRIOR TO TAKING STOCK

We offer this week the Greatest Bargains of the Season in Men's, Boys and Children's Suits and Overcoats at prices far below all competition. Call and see before buying elsewhere.

GOLDEN EAGLE,

One Price-Clothiers Furnisher, Hatter & Shoers,
226 and 228 East Douglas Avenue.

TAKEN FOR HORSE THIEVES.

A Romance and Tragedy on the Frontier Border of Texas.

"The most pathetic scene I ever witnessed," said a Texas judge to a representative of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, "was a third of a century ago, but it is as plain to my eyes to-day as it was then. We had been bothered by horse thieves down on the frontier, and you know what that means in a wild country. A crowd of us started out after the scoundrels, and just before we reached the Rio Grande we saw two horsemen off to the left, who acted suspiciously. After them we went, and it was a pretty race for awhile till they disappeared behind a clump of trees. We had shot to stop them, and when we got in sight again we found that one horse had been shot, and they had deserted him, while both were riding the other. They were evidently Mexicans—a man and a boy—and the man showed fight, turning and firing at us, finally hitting our deputy sheriff. We gained on them rapidly, and presently a well-directed fire sent them all in a heap. When we reached them the boy was kneeling in front of the dying Mexican, sobbing and moaning as if his heart would break, while his hair, which had fallen from her cap, fell below her waist. It was a case of elopement, and they had taken us for their father's servants, while we had been equally stupid and had taken them for horse thieves. When he began to cry she drew a little pearl-handled revolver, and before anyone could think of stopping her placed the muzzle under her ear and fell into his arms, a corpse. No, we never heard who they were. We buried them and went after the horse thieves."

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.

It is almost useless to follow tracks or sound, clumsy as the animals appear, they can race through the underbrush faster than a dog can follow, and they are so keen of sight and scent and so prone to concealment that even the most experienced hunter rarely catches sight of one in the daytime, unless by accident. The best plan is to lie in wait for them, as the lithe and crafty jaguar does, by their drinking and watering places, and this must be done at night.

I may as well add here that tapirs are common all over South and Central America, except the thickly settled regions, and the Pacific coast. Naturalists distinguish several species, differing mainly in size and the structure of the bones, but they are much alike. All go singly, or in bands generally of two or three, and feed on fruits and leaves.

INSANITY AND GENIUS.
The Fundamental Cause of Both is Excessive Nervous Energy.

"It is generally held in science that the average man is the sanest man, for it is upon him that nature relies for the continuance of the species, and not upon extremes of variations," said Dr. A. Macdonald the other evening before the Washington Anthropological society, according to the Post of that city.

Human abnormality might be divided into three general forms, insanity, genius and crime. The conclusion is not that geniuses are insane, but that great talents are not given to men without some cost to the healthy equilibrium of nerve and brain. If it be objected that these morbid symptoms are very common among the dullards and weak minded, this would indicate that they are as far below the average as the geniuses are above.

In saying that genius manifests the symptoms of a nervous or mental disease we mean an excessive nervous or brain action. Many forms of insanity are also manifestations of similar excessive action. Such action in one individual can give rise to most wonderful, original and brilliant ideas, and we call it genius. In another individual it produces also wonderful and original thoughts, but often highly absurd, and we call it insanity. But it appears that in general the fundamental cause in both genius and insanity is the same—that is, it is excessive mental or nervous energy.

A Doomed Day.
"I am not worthy of you, Maud. I am not all I should be. I have not made the most of my opportunities. But I love you. Will you be mine?"
"Acting upon your advice, my dear George," returned the fair young girl. "I am constrained to say no. I must have a

THREE-TOED GAME.
The Tapir Is a Difficult Animal to Find and to Capture.

In the wilder part of South America you can bag a deer or a wild hog almost any day if you act wisely about it, but months may pass without even the sight of a tapir, though you may be in their haunts continually.

You see plenty of unmistakable three-toed tracks, and now and again you may hear tapirs moving in the forest—no leaping through openings between the vines and branches as a deer does, but pushing the brush aside like a jaguar, but crushing their way by sheer strength, with a great crackling of twigs, says St. Nicholas.